Orlison Brewing Company

Tour Presented by:

The Brew Masters Themselves

October's tour this year will take us to the Orlison Brewing Co. on Tuesday, October 11. We will gather for the tour of their operation at 12921 West 17th Ave. in Airway Heights at 4:30. Orlison Brewing Co. is a small craft lager brewery looking to convert ale enthusiasts everywhere into true lager fans. Originally founded in 2009, years of tried and true brewing methods provide their team with the knowledge and capabilities needed to create the best craft beers available in the Pacific Northwest. They are also the first Inland Northwest brewery to can their beer, a distinction they are proud of.

Brewing the best lagers in the Pacific Northwest takes more than skill and drive; it requires a staff of dedicated beer lovers and a brewmaster who understands what it takes to create crisp, refreshing and flawless lagers worth of the world stage. Their motto, Brew No Evil™, is a statement of their commitment to brewing the cleanest, clearest and tastiest lagers available today. Their award-winning crisp beers stand as a representation of everything they want their customers to enjoy in a real lager. Whether you're interested in a smooth, light Pilsner like the Havanüther or Orlison's IPL, their crazily hoppy lager, join us as we see how real beer from Orlison Brewing Co. is created.

RUSTY MOOSE

For those interested, after the tour we will gather at the Rusty Moose in Airway Heights for a no-host dinner and/or drinks.

What's Trending?

- On the topic of breweries, as the craft brewing culture continues to grow so does the need for an efficient supply chain. In recent years, companies have begun to segment themselves into this new niche market by targeting up and coming craft breweries. Even educational industries have begun to study the complex supply chains of nationwide brewers.
